THE CLEVELAND ORCHESTRA YOUTH ORCHESTRA

SUPPORTED BY THE GEOFFREY AND SARAH GUND ENDOWMENT

The Cleveland Orchestra Youth Orchestra (COYO) was created to provide talented young musicians with a pre-professional orchestral training experience of the highest artistic standard. Youth Orchestra musicians are selected through competitive auditions held each May. Membership is open to middle school and high school students who study privately, participate in their school music program and are prepared to commit to an ambitious rehearsal and concert schedule. Your commitment includes weekly rehearsals, coachings with Cleveland Orchestra members, and the COYO retreat; some need-based assistance is available. Tuition is $450.

The Youth Orchestra season has historically included three Severance Music Center subscription performances, community concerts, and a side by side rehearsal with The Cleveland Orchestra. Annual concerto auditions offer members the opportunity to appear as soloist with the Youth Orchestra.

The Cleveland Orchestra Youth Orchestra is privileged to make its home in historic Severance Music Center.

Members of the Youth Orchestra enjoy a very close artistic relationship with members of The Cleveland Orchestra. The coaching staff includes principal and assistant principal players who share their wisdom and experience with their younger counterparts. COYO's music director is a member of The Cleveland Orchestra conducting staff, appointed by the music director of The Cleveland Orchestra.

Cleveland Orchestra guest artists are invited to work with the Youth Orchestra. Those who have previously given master classes include Emanuel Ax, Yuri Bashmet, Joshua Bell, Steven Isserlis, Yo-Yo Ma, Midori, Gil Shaham, Alisa Weilerstein and Nicolaj Znaider. Conductors John Adams, Marin Alsop, Pierre Boulez, James Conlon, Sir Andrew Davis, Christoph von Dohnányi, Giancarlo Guerrero, Oliver Knussen, Jahja Ling, Kurt Masur, Kent Nagano, Michael Tilson Thomas, and Franz Welser-Möst also have worked with the ensemble.

A Brief History

The Cleveland Orchestra Youth Orchestra, one of northern Ohio's premiere musical destinations for serious young musicians, will be celebrating its 38th season during the 2023-24 season. Since its inception in 1986, the Youth Orchestra has performed more than 200 concerts and has provided a musical home to more than 1,500 of the region's most talented young musicians. The scope and quality of the COYO experience is impressive!

In 1998, the Cleveland Orchestra Youth Orchestra participated in the second National Youth Orchestra Festival sponsored by the American Symphony Orchestra League. The festival brought together 450 of the country's most accomplished young instrumentalists to study with esteemed artist faculty. Only five youth orchestras were chosen through a rigorous audition process from a national pool of applicants.

COYO receives annual support from the Martha Holden Jennings Foundation, Dominion Energy and individual donors. Major support is provided by The Geoffrey and Sarah Gund Endowment. Endowment support for touring comes from the Vinney Fund. Other endowment support comes from the estate of Christin Gitlin Miles.

In 1984, Jahja Ling was engaged as associate conductor of The Cleveland Orchestra. With three years as founding director of the San Francisco Symphony Youth Orchestra, and a vision for Cleveland, he established the Cleveland Orchestra Youth Orchestra in 1986 and served as its music director for six seasons. Mr. Ling subsequently served as The Cleveland Orchestra's resident conductor and as Blossom Festival director.

Mr. Morrell is currently assistant conductor for the Metropolitan Opera. Upon his departure in 1998, Harry Davidson conducted the remainder of the 1997-98 season.

Steven Smith, became music director of COYO in 1998. At Carnegie Hall's invitation, Mr. Smith led the Youth Orchestra in a "Family Concert" in 2001. Mr. Smith is currently the Music Director of the Cleveland Chamber Symphony.

In 2003, James Gaffigan became the Youth Orchestra's fourth music director. He is the newly appointed General Music Director of Komische Oper Berlin, and is in his second season as Music Director of the Palau de les Arts Reina Sofia in Valencia. He also serves as Principal Guest Conductor of both the Netherlands Radio Philharmonic Orchestra, and the Trondheim Symphony Orchestra & Opera.

Youth Orchestra members share their thoughts about their experience:

“COYO is one of the greatest opportunities around; it allows you to dive into collaborative work, learn standards of personal preparation and responsibility, and explore wonderful repertoire while you’re doing so.”

– Serena Shapard, violin

“COYO has been the most intensive ensemble I’ve played in, and held the most professional and determined group of young musicians I have had the opportunity to meet and make music with. It ultimately solidified my decision to pursue music in college and as a career. I strongly recommend this group of musicians to anyone who is determined to play intense and truly enjoyable music, and craves a true pre-professional experience.”

– Colin Henley, viola

“COYO is the best experience I have had with orchestral playing. The musicianship, talent and overall attitude of the group is unparalleled to any group I have played in. I will always remember the times I have spent with this group and I am extremely happy to have gotten the chance to play with them.”

– Paul Bissler, horn

“There’s truly nothing to dislike with your COYO experience. You take part in rehearsals with talented colleagues, world-class conductors, and receive weekly instruction from members of the world’s greatest orchestra. The experiences one has are priceless. You won’t find a better youth orchestra in this hemisphere!”

– David Burnett, tuba
